FATHER'S COLUMN

Jesus said to his disciples:

"The Advocate, the Holy Spirit,
whom the Father will send in my name,
will teach you everything and remind you of all that I told you.

In the Last Supper discourse of John's Gospel, Jesus carefully prepares the disciples for the time when he will no longer be with them in the way they are used to. His physical presence in the human body they are accustomed to might be gone, but he wants them to know in no uncertain terms that he will still dwell with them through his word, his peace, and the Holy Spirit.

We live in the time of waiting: the time after Jesus' Ascension to the Father but before the fulfillment of the Kingdom of God where God will be "all in all" (1 Cor 15:28) and "every tear" will be wiped away as we heard in last week's reading from the Book of Revelation.

In this time of waiting and building the kingdom of God, Jesus reassures us as well that he will dwell with us always, even when we can't see him. Our lives as disciples require that we cultivate these gifts of the Lord. That we love his word with our whole heart, mind, soul, and self. That we take time to experience and receive Jesus' peace so that we might share it with others. That we know the Holy Spirit through prayer and worship.

The first Easter season when Jesus appeared to his disciples after his resurrection was a time of joy and a time of transition. Jesus knew his disciples would need time to integrate this new reality. And so it is with us. We have experienced the great fast of Lent, the solemnity of the Holy Triduum, and the overwhelming joy of Easter. Now we are given time to integrate these new spiritual insights into our own life before we return to the routine rhythm of Ordinary Time.

How will your life be different after encountering Jesus in his word, peace, and Spirit anew?
